

Space Explorer

by: Lincoln

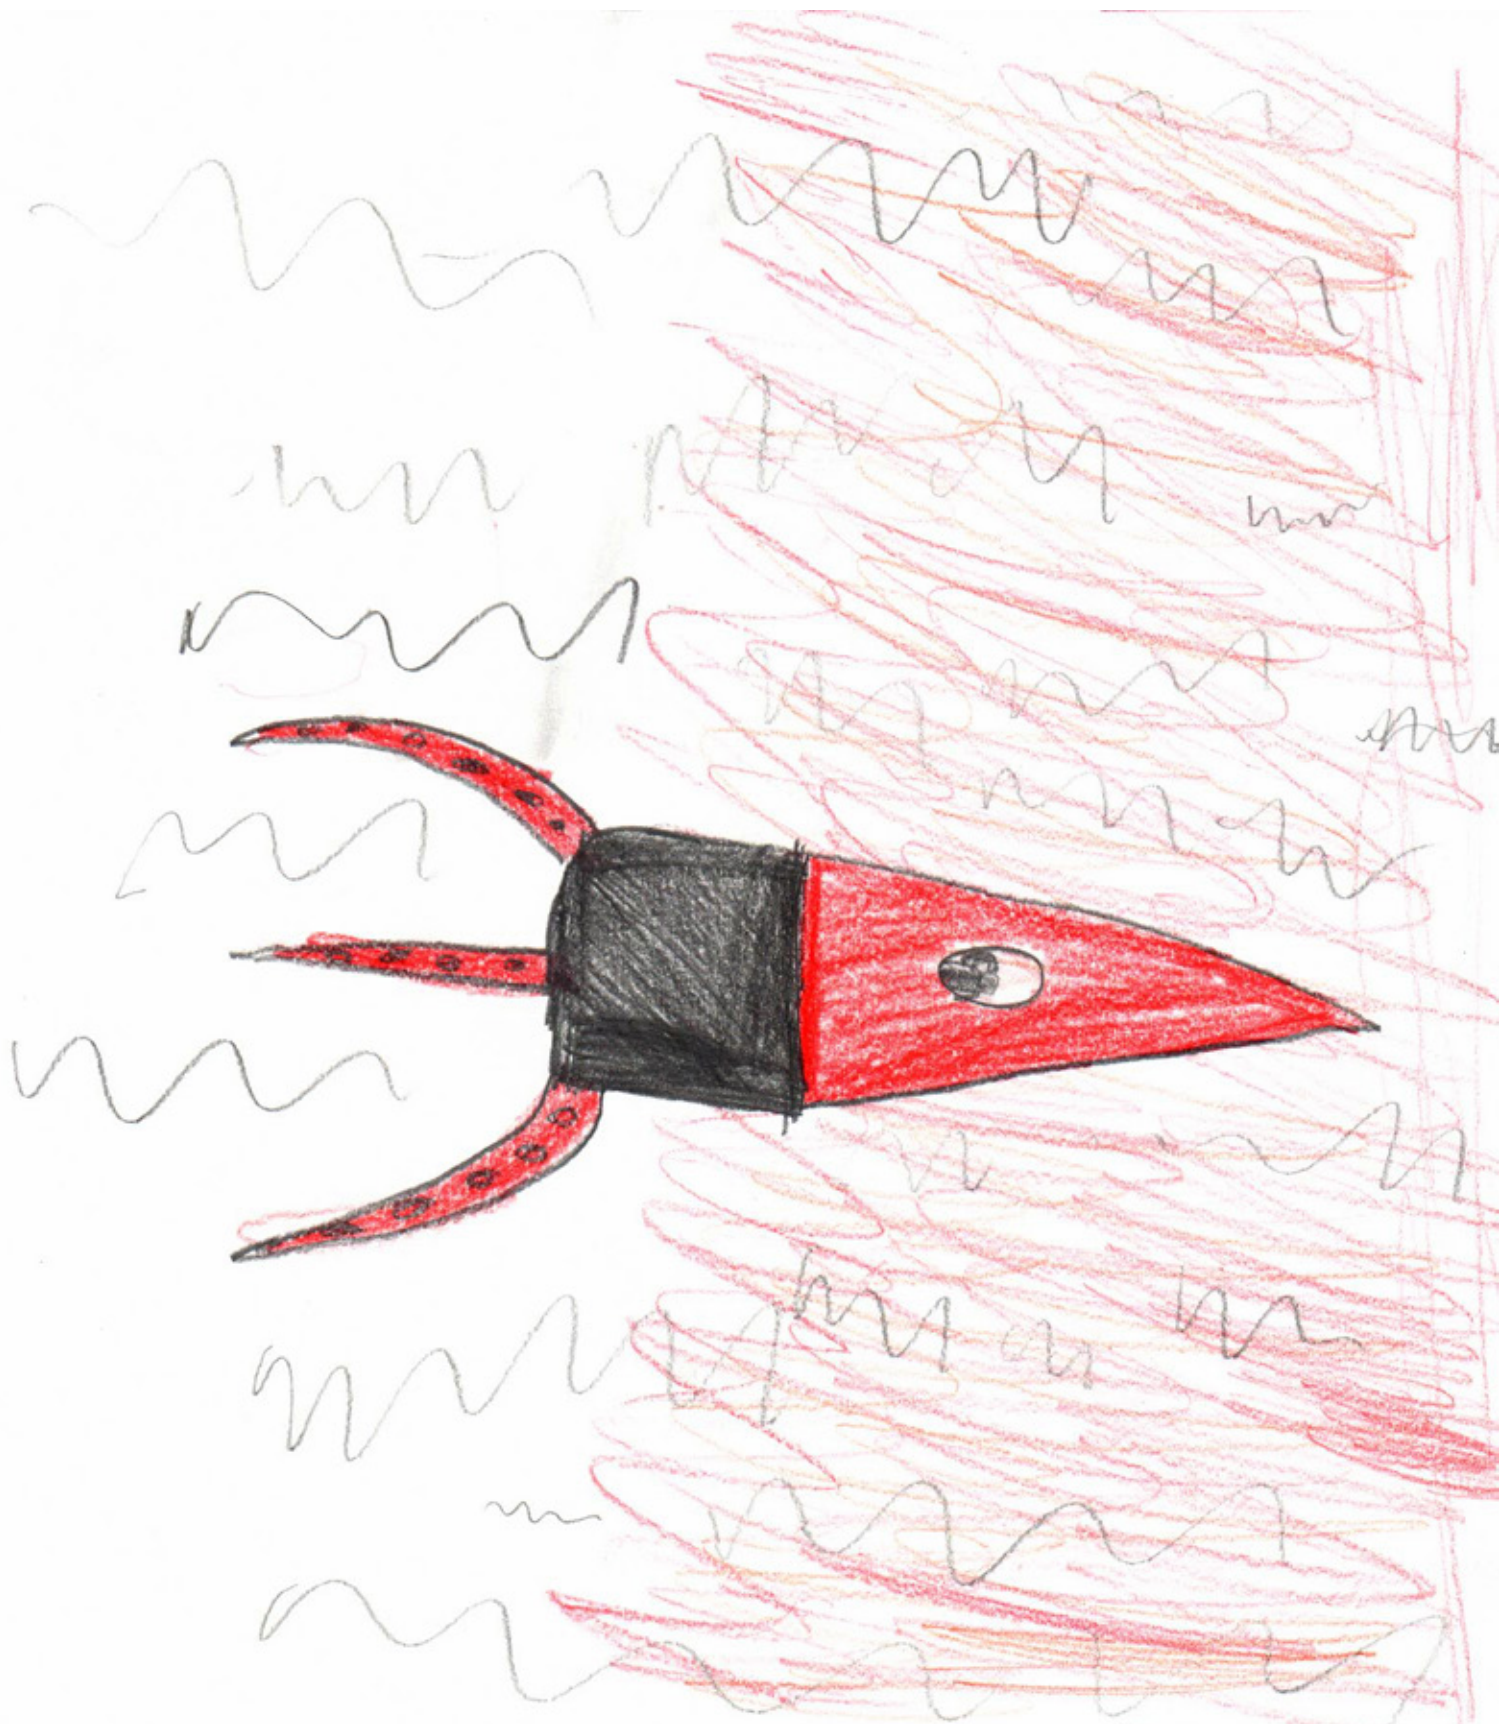

Once upon a time, a space explorer called Bruce explored every planet except Mars. Everyone said that the heat is too hot.

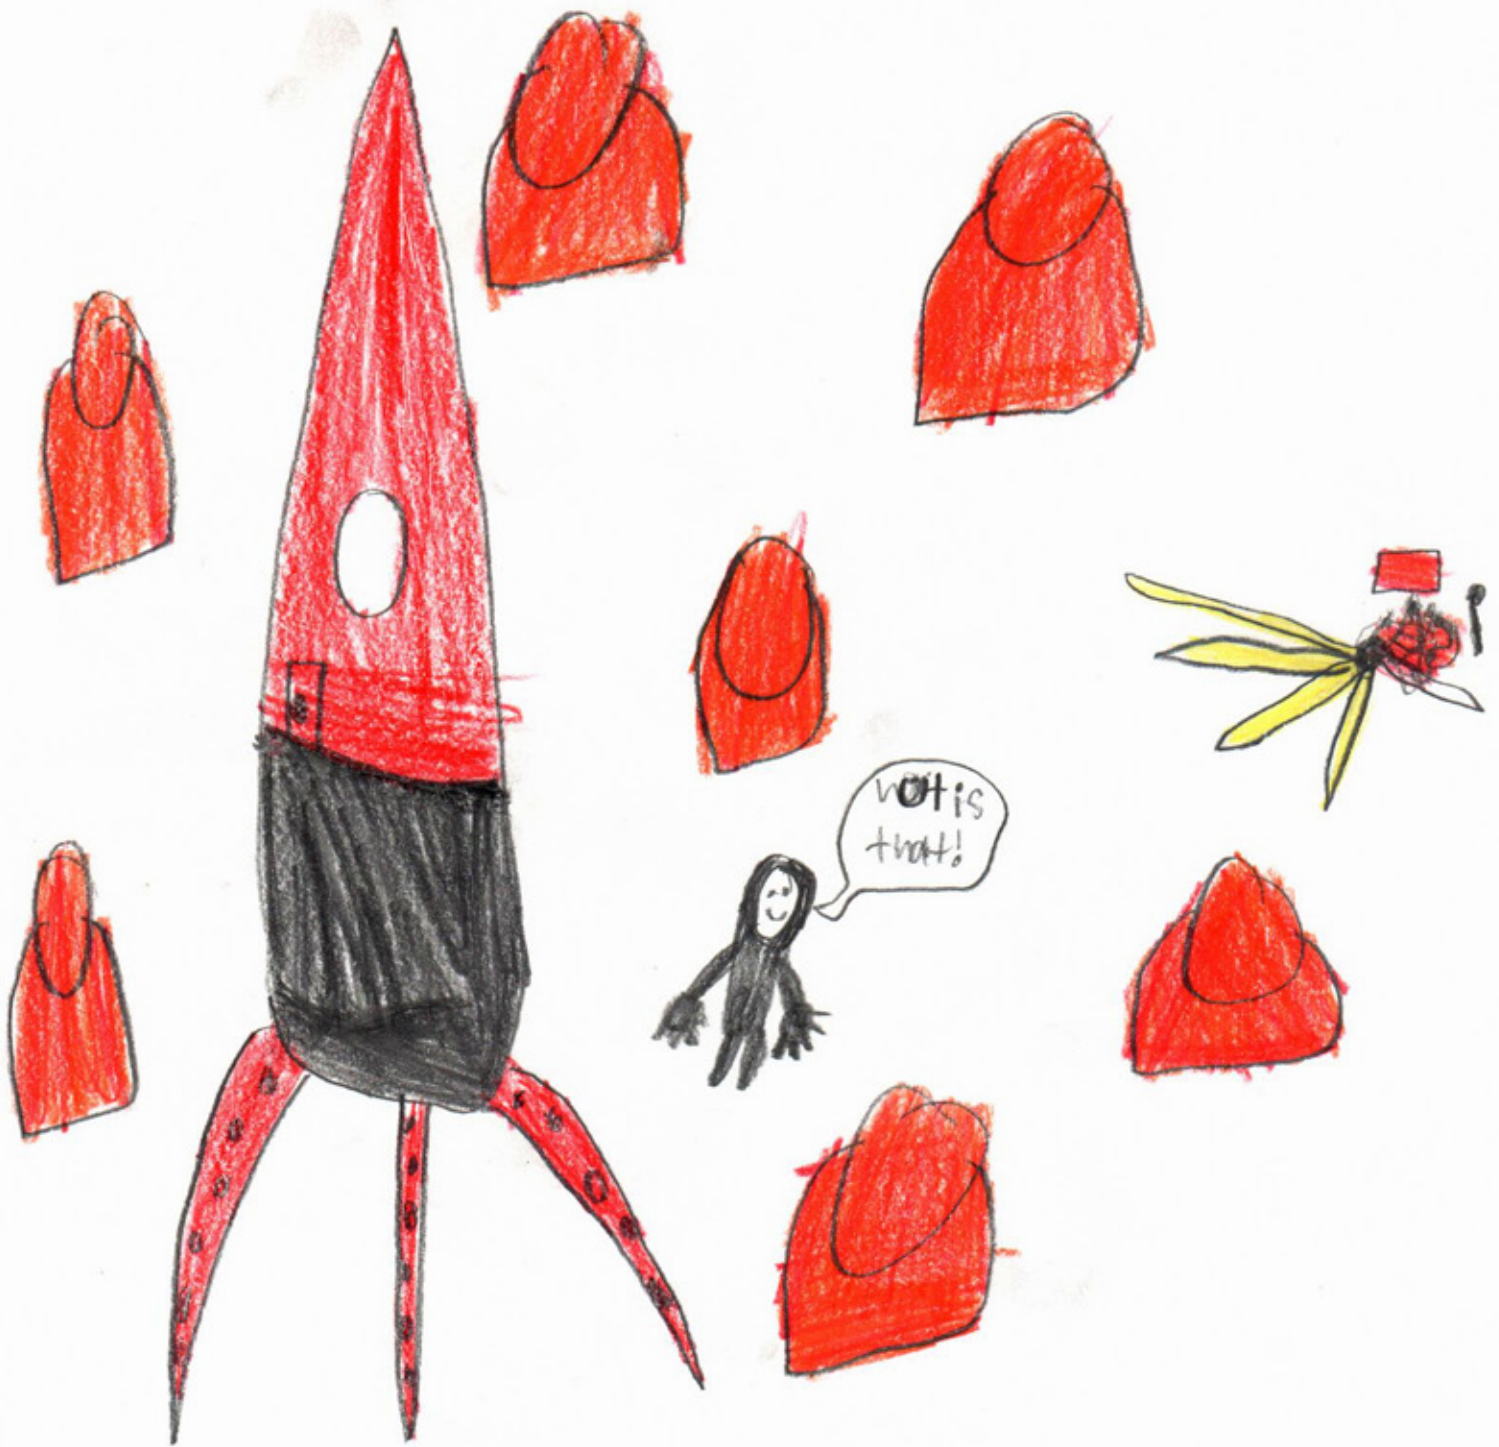

Bruce headed out the next night. He set off to the planet Mars. He gets into his rocketship. He gets ready and shoots into the starry night.

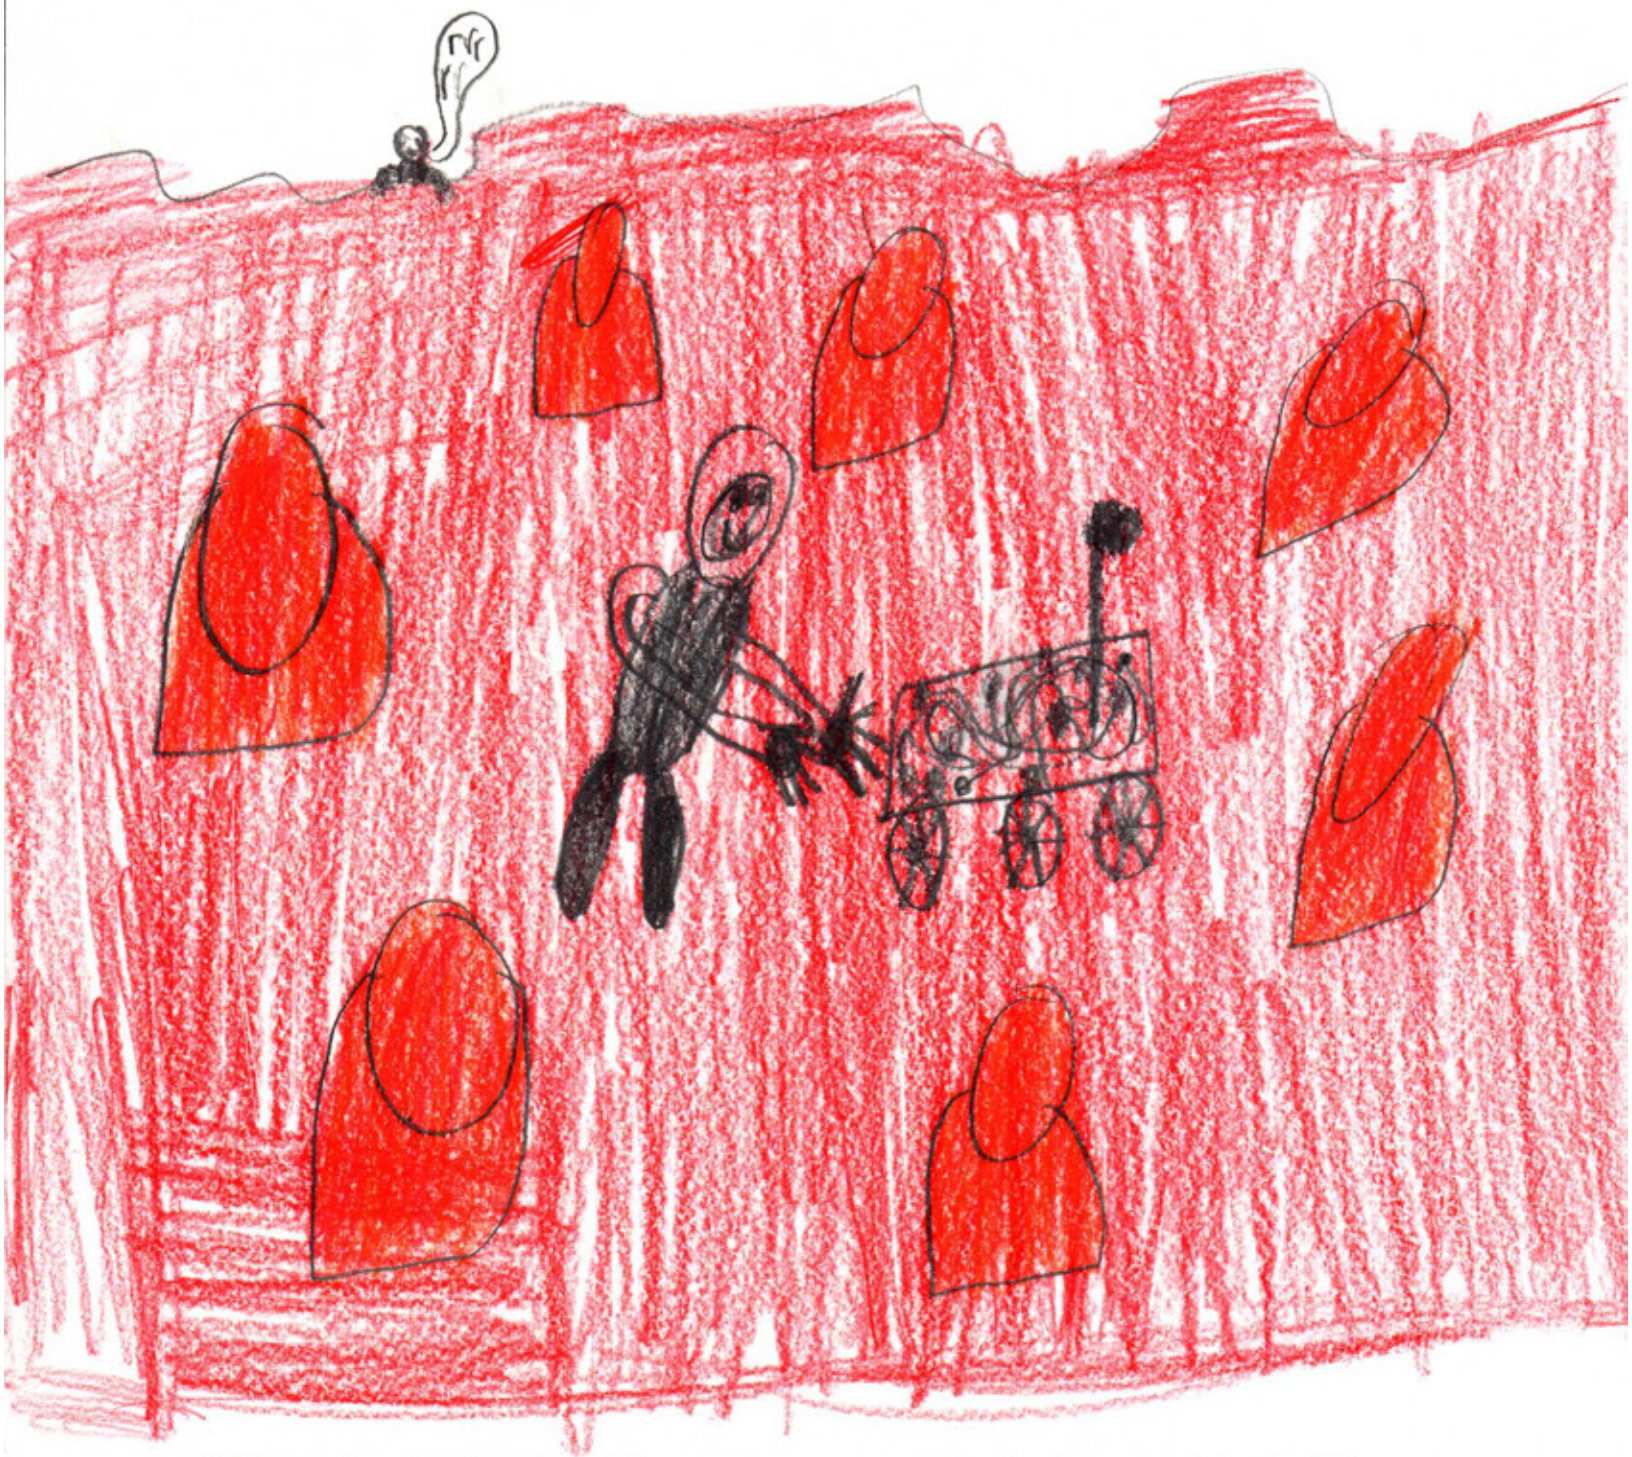

Night four and he is still going on and no sign of Mars.

On night five, he met the hottest place for a rocketship. It got so hot that his water bottle water evaporated!

Finally on night six he made it to Mars. When he stepped out of the rocketship, he saw a shining thing. He wanted to look closer so he did.

When he looked, all he saw was robot pieces. He built a robot named Rustee. But Bruce wasn't alone. Yeger the Yeti was also there. He followed Bruce and Rustee.

Bruce found a strange plant that had electricity. He thought it would be new technology. He took the plant, Rustee, and Yeger back to earth with him.
