

The Mountain

By: Daisy Scott

There once was a beautiful mountain, and had many animals such as snow owls, mountain goats, rabbits, snakes, and the mountain lions. The mountain was call the Tundra Mountain because how cold it was. Many animals have comfage with there fur and many other skills that make each and every animal amazing.

Rabbits are white or sometimes brown with black, and could also be light grey or dark grey. There is many things that rabbit are good ate like jumping, and good at comoflogeing into the snow. Rabbits are a small type of animal, and eat vegetables. They oslo can be very good pets for kids and there ears and tial are cute to alot of people.

The mountain goats are are beautiful with there horns and many other features. Mountain goats are very good at climbing rocks, and have very good skills. They have white fur most of the times, and there fur protects them from the cold from the mountain. They can oslo use there horns for battling.

Now the third animal is the mountain lion. The mountain lion is part of the cat family. Mountain lions eat meat, and are good hunters. They have a white fur to camouflage in the snow, and catch their prey. They have claws and amazing looking teeth that help them eat their food. They have many cool abilities that they have.

Next animal is the snake there are many things a snake can do. They can have lots of patterns and colors. Their small size help them escape from danger and get their food. There is still lots of other cool and amazing things about snakes such as that they do not have legs, and they do not have eye lids, and ears.

Lastly the next animal is the snow owl. Snow owls are a type of bird, and owls hide in trees, also camouflage into the snow on a tree. They have white feathers to blend into the snow to hide from predators. They can also fly a very long distance, and are very beautiful and majestic.
